A SUMPTUOUS DINNER

Many Out of Town Guests
Enjoy Happy Celebration of Their Marriage

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Dougherty was the occasion of a very happy gathering of friends at their hospitable home, 219 North Adams street, last Saturday.

A very sumptuous dinner was served to 32 guests. Those bringing their felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty were Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Edmonds, Rev. R. Warren and Mrs. Mottern, Elizabeth and Dorsey, Rev. James McConaughy of Philadelphia, editor of "The Sunday School World," wife and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Sanders of Gettysburg, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeigler of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker of Pasadena, Mrs. McCabe and daughter of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Emma Stahl of Gettysburg, Mrs. Alice Wolf Dysin and Mrs. Julia Jacobs Harpster of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Fahnestock of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Diehl of York, Pa., Mrs. Susan Eyster and son, Elmer, and his daughter of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cullen of Glendale, the host and hostess and daughter, Louise.

The afternoon was spent in the gold old-fashioned Pennsylvania way of social chat and music. Miss Elizabeth Rudy Mottern delighted the guests with beautiful solos.

The guests at this anniversary have all invited themselves to return to the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty. Many of the guests will soon return to their Eastern homes and we predict that, long before that quarter of a century rolls around, they will have returned to California to live in the land of flowers, Glendale being the mecca for all who behold its beauties and attractions.

A number of guests from Riverside, not being able to be present on Saturday to enjoy the festivities at the Dougherty home, autoed over on Sunday and spent part of the day with them, the party being Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anspach and Miss Margaret Imbusch.

DEATH OF AN OLD GLENDALE RESIDENT

Mrs. Thomas Hezmalhatch, aged 69 years, passed away Saturday morning, March 12, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will A. Talbot, of Monrovia. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hezmalhatch were early settlers in this valley, coming from England with their family in 1885. They were permanent residents here until 1907, when they answered the call of the mission fields of South Africa, where they were faithful workers and were beloved by all with whom they labored. They were there affectionately called "Father and Mother Tom." They returned to Southern California in 1912 and have since made their home with their daughter in Monrovia.

Besides her husband, she leaves an only daughter, Mrs. Will A. Talbot of Monrovia, and three sons, Frederick C., of Fullerton; Charles G., of Glendale, and Alfred H., of Los Angeles. Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn cemetery, Tuesday afternoon, March 13.

WOODLAND HEIGHTS COMPANY BARBECUE

E. B. Elias of 1263 South Brand, Glendale's well-known photographer, went to Burbank Saturday afternoon to photograph the barbecue given by the Woodland Heights Company to advertise its fine new residence tract. Man proposes, but rain sometimes disposes of the best-laid plans of nice and men. It did in this instance, and the barbecue is to be repeated next Saturday. Mr. Elias and his camera expect to be there.

STRANGE BELIEF OF MONO INDIANS

OAKLAND, Calif., March 14.—Rescued by missionaries as they were about to die from neglect and in time to prevent one of them from being offered as a sacrifice to the gods, two diminutive Indian twins have arrived here from the Norfolk Presbyterian Indian School in Madera county. According to the belief of the Mono tribe of Indians inhabiting that section, twins are bad luck and to appease the gods one must be offered as a sacrifice. The mother of the twins, died soon after their birth and the father deserted them. A tribal council had been called when the little tots were rescued by the missionaries.

GREAT DAY AT THE CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

Despite Heavy Rain, All Services Well Attended and Great Interest Shown

Rejoicing over the bountiful rain that meant so much to all the Southland, young and old turned out to the Bible School at the Central Christian Church yesterday morning and enjoyed a most profitable session.

There was almost the usual attendance at the morning church services. The pastor's theme was, "One Win Now." He detailed the Master's plan of sending out single workers and others by twos and threes to win souls to the kingdom. The same plan was pursued, he said, in the early days of the church. Philip was sent to the eunuch, Peter to Cornelius, Paul and Barnabas and later Paul and Silas, to Asia Minor and Europe.

Referring to the work of the Holy Spirit, Rev. Cole said that when Christ went back to Heaven he left the Holy Spirit in His place to convince men of righteousness and the judgment, through the work of His consecrated servants and this is the mission of Christians today. They should go out singly, in pairs or threes to forward the work of the kingdom and the Holy Spirit will accompany them. Acting on this suggestion, 17 men eagerly volunteered to go out in the afternoon through the pouring rain, to visit those who had been members of the church elsewhere and who should line up with the Glendale congregation. All reported having had a great time and a most profitable one.

At the evening service the attendance was quite small, owing to the heavy rain which fell at church-going time. This service had been announced as a memorial for Mrs. Jessie Brown Pounds, who recently died at her home in Hiram, Ohio. She was a great worker in the church and the author of many beautiful and popular hymns, nearly all of which are used in Christian Churches. Several of these hymns were sung last night and the pastor then made a short address using as a basis the 126th Psalm.

Tonight the Bible School cabinet is to meet in the church bungalow and every teacher and officer is urged to be present. There will be supper, served at 6:15, then Edgar Lloyd Smith, state Sunday School superintendent, will deliver an address on "What Manner of Child Will This Be?" Departmental conferences will follow.

Wednesday evening is church night and the usual supper will be served at 6:15. Bible study will occupy the time from 7 to 8, followed by a half-hour prayer service.

Thursday the Ladies' Aid will meet for all-day work.

Next Sunday evening the men of the church will have charge of the services and Judge Crail of Los Angeles will deliver an address.

VALUE RISING

C. R. Curnutt, who recently bought the apartment house at Pacific avenue and Vine street, of B. W. Sherwood, will build a 4-room bungalow on the rear of the lot for the family to occupy, as all the apartments are rented. This property, which was changed from a store building to an apartment house during the past 15 months, has changed hands four times in that period and is now valued at $12,000.

BUILDING NOTES

Olive street is only one block long, extending from Broadway to Wilson avenue, but there is a great deal of building going on in that short space. The latest improvement is A. M. Anderson's three-room residence at 119, for which a permit was taken out Saturday. The cost is given as $2500.

PRESIDENT HARDING CALLS EXTRA SESSION

Senator Lodge, the Republican Leader in the United States Senate, is Notified—No Hint as to What Legislation Will be Recommended

By International News Service
WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Harding this afternoon informed Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, that he will call Congress into extra session on April 11.

The president requested that the senate remain in session for at least one day longer as he had some more important nominations which he desired to send to the senate for confirmation.

Senator Lodge made the announcement, after a conference with the president, and stated that the president had given him authority to make the announcement. Senator Lodge had called upon the president to inform him that the senate was ready to adjourn. Senator Lodge stated that he could not say what work the president would ask of the special session of Congress when it meets.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY ORGANIZED

The young people of the First Congregational Church met at the church Saturday evening and organized their young people's society, making it a full-fledged Christian Endeavor society which will be affiliated with the district, county and state Christian Endeavor Union. The young people enjoyed a delicious supper served by Mrs. Calderwood, Mrs. Blake Franklin and Mr. Von Oven. The room was beautifully decorated in acacia, dotted with pink Cherokee roses, and the young people are enthusiastic over their new organization. The following officers were elected: H. Benjamin Robinson president; Robert Frazer, treasurer; Gladys White, secretary; Evelyn Gregg, membership committee; Millicent Alvord, program committee; Edith Schuyler, social committee; Marjorie Yarrick, service committee.

A new Christian Endeavor constitution and by-laws were adopted by the society and the first meeting, which was held Sunday evening, proved that these splendid young people are in earnest, for there were 20 present.

FUNERAL OF LITTLE MARGERY M'COY

Funeral services for little Margery McCoy, only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCoy of 218 North Maryland, who died Friday morning, were held this morning at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where interment took place. They were conducted by Rev. Glyde M. Crist, who spoke most tenderly of the dead child, whose death has prostrated the mother. The sympathy of the community is with the parents in their great bereavement and the floral tributes were wonderful in their number and beauty. Pulliam & Kiefer had charge of the services.

LEGION DANCE

In spite of the rain the American Legion dance at the headquarters of the local post on East Broadway on Saturday night was a great success. Herbert Henning's Orchestra was responsible for the good music.

CLARA S. HAMON TO WRITE STORY

ARDMORE, Okla., March 14.—Publishers as well as moving picture concerns are besieging Clara Smith Hamon. She has been offered an enormous sum to write the story of her life, either in event of acquittal or conviction, it was learned today. According to close friends, she will sign a movie contract as soon as her trial ends, if she is acquitted.

According to her present plans if she walks from the courtroom a free woman, she will go to California with her sister, Mrs. Van Allen James of Los Angeles and first take a rest.

SPECTACULAR RAID ON SUMMER CAMP

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 14.—Photographs and letters, which were seized by armed raiders at Mrs. James A. Stillman's summer camp near Iliman, Quebec, are expected to play an important part when the divorce suit of Mr. Stillman, multimillionaire president of the National City Bank, one of the biggest in America, comes to trial.

Details of the spectacular raid upon Mrs. Stillman's summer camp came to light today following the revelation that the banker had named a half-breed Indian as co-respondent. This Indian, who is described as a fine specimen of manhood, was attached to the entourage of the Stillman summer camp as a guide.

Several shots are said to have been exchanged in the raid which took place, as nearly as the date can be fixed, early in June, 1919. No one was hurt, however.

One version of the report indicated that the raiding party was made of armed men from this city. The defenders of the camp were residents of the nearby village, whom Mrs. Stillman employed when she learned that her husband had employed a detective agency to gather evidence for his divorce suit.

Apparently the camp guards were caught unawares for all accounts of the affair agree that the raiders were successful in getting away with the desired evidence. The exact nature of the photographs and letters is a secret and a matter of considerable speculation. Mrs. Stillman was known among her friends as an enthusiastic amateur photographer and frequently took her camera with her on junkets about the Canadian camp.

The camp lodge is situated in the heart of a dense wood and its front approach is cross-cut by a small stream which the raiding party had to ford in its secret advance upon the place.

For several days before the raid was made, the village had been stirred by reports that strange men were in the neighborhood. Apparently the armed guards at the camp did not put much stock in these reports. At any rate, the attack came as a surprise. Mrs. Stillman, it is understood, was not at the camp at the time of the raid.

The half-breed Indian was said to have been either at the lodge or in the village at the time of the raid. This Indian is expected to prove a picturesque figure in the trial. According to the banker's allegations, the relations between Mrs. Stillman and the half-breed occupied a period of three years. So far as was known, Mrs. Stillman has not seen the Indian during the past year.

'CONNECTICUT YANKEE AT ARTHUR'S COURT'

Glendale at last has that wonderful drama of merriment which has been entertaining capacity houses in the theaters of the big cities of the east: "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." It is one of the greatest satirical comedies ever penned and was written by America's dearly beloved Mark Twain. It is on the screen today and tomorrow at the Palace Grand Theater and is being offered at the regular admission, although in Los Angeles where it is now in its 12th week, prices run from 50 cents to $1.00. This is one of the real big things in motion pictures and patrons of the Palace Grand who miss it will always regret their misfortune.

Mrs. Will Peart is expected home this evening from a ten-day visit to San Diego.

BUSINESS SECTION NEW MUSIC CLUB

Important Meeting of the Glendale Organization in the High School

ILLUSTRATE 'OTHELLO'

First of a Series of Operas to be Given by Chicago
Company

An important business meeting of the Glendale Music Club will be held at the regular time in the music room of the high school, Friday evening, March 18, 8 o'clock.

A full attendance of active charter members is desired as several important matters are to come before the club, and a number of new members are to be voted into the club membership.

The business meetings are for active members only and the regular program meetings to be held in the high school auditorium on the first Friday evening of each month, are open to all associate members and their guests.

Following the business meeting on this Friday evening, Mrs. Dora Gibson will give a careful analysis of the opera Othello, illustrated with victrola records.

This is the first of a series of operas to be given by the Chicago Opera Company, and it is a remarkable fact that after 16 years of rest, after having written the wonderful masterpiece, Aida, Verdi, at the ripe age of 74, composed the opera Othello, another great masterpiece.

The story, or libretto, of this opera, is written by Boito, founded on the drama of Shakespeare.

Arrangements are to be perfected as far as possible at this meeting for the first regular program meeting on April 1, in the auditorium, and which will be very fine.

All who desire to become charter associate members should send in their names with one dollar, to cover dues until October 1, to treasurer, Mrs. Warren Roberts, 617 East Elk.

Applicants must state if they desire to be associate members in order to be properly classified by the board of managers.

FATHER AND SON Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

If you have any doubts about the value of the county Y. M. C. A. to the community, don't fail to attend the Father and Son banquet to be given by the boys of the H-Y Club in the Methodist Church tomorrow evening at 6:30.

The dinner will be served by the ladies of the church and everybody knows how good it will be and of the wonderful service which is given at 50 cents a plate—you can't equal it anywhere, but the real feast will be the fellowship and intellectual treat which will follow. It will gladden your heart to see the spirit of the leaders of these boys of ours and to know that there are young men in Glendale who are willing to devote their time—at least one evening each week—to training and developing the characters of a large number of the boys of the city—your boys.

The strongest influences in life are those which are unseen by the outside world, and if you can but get a little glimpse of the work which is being done to help boys to higher, nobler, better ideals, you will take a deep interest in the "Y" and will want to support it.

A large Y. M. C. A. building would be a splendid asset to the city but the real work done by the county "Y" without a building and without equipment, is great and brings better returns for the money invested than any other phase of "Y" work.

EASTER VACATION

This is the last week of the mid-winter term in the Glendale schools and next week scholars will enjoy the annual Easter vacation.

VITAL CONCERNS OF OUR COMMUNITY

Dr. Clyde Monroe Crist Delivers Sermon on "Glendale—Straight Ahead"

Discussing the theme, "Glendale—Straight Ahead"—at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening, Dr. Crist took occasion to very strikingly indicate some of the legitimate concerns of the community. He said in part: "God does not make individual character. He leaves that to us. He gives man a vision of what ought to be and says, 'Go to work.' With the vision comes the obligation to realize. World conditions are much in the hands of men. Situations below the ideal are attributed to our neglect or obstinacy and not to God's indifference.

"The logical place to begin the program of world betterment," said Dr. Crist, "is here. Our concern for America is great. Our love for California has impelled us to many and strenuous activities. But our closest point of contact is Glendale. We are under the greatest obligation to develop here the ideal city."

Dr. Crist proceeded to point out personal responsibilities on the part of the best citizenship, to support and dominate civic organizations, declaring that no one had any right to separate themselves from such organizations and then grumble because things did not go to suit them.

Rev. Crist made special reference to two institutions declared to be fundamental and urged upon all the necessity for wide-awake enthusiasm. These were the home and the church. Said he: "If we have a genuine loyalty to the whole matter of advancement toward the better Glendale, we must seriously consider the home. We can have nothing worth while without rightly directed family life. What are the facts? Many of the most cherished traditions of our fathers have been thrown to the winds. Principles that have operated in family life for a century are being disregarded. God calls us to a reconsideration. With the lack of vital religious training in our homes, with the divorce evil on the crest of the wave, with the giddy whirl of the dance, with all of its shocking indecencies in dress and maneuver, with the lewd picture show, with the disregard for parental advice, with the thousand and one encroachments upon the family life of today, we should be mightily concerned."

Rev. Crist spoke finally of the church and declared that next to the home this was the most legitimate concern of Glendale. "If," said he, "Glendale is to be a 'city of homes,' and a 'clean city,' kept clean, then the church must be adequately supported. There would be no influx into the city if the churches were not here. If tonight, by a concerted plan, all the churches of Glendale would agree to go out of business, tomorrow morning the people would begin to leave. If this is true, then every right-thinking man should get behind the church and boost instead of standing aside a critic. Furthermore, if the church is so fundamental to the community's welfare, why do the picture shows put on attractive programs at the church hour and precede them by recitals of sacred music to get even the church crowd? Is this patriotism to Glendale? Does the picture show substitute for the church? Did Christ organize the picture show and say, 'Go ye into all the world and compete with the church?'"

"In my candid judgment the patriotic people of Glendale ought to demand a six-day show. The church should be permitted to get its message into the minds and hearts of all. No city is so wide-awake to its best interests as the city that supports in every way the Church of Jesus Christ."

SCORE CONTEST ENDS WITH DINNER

Fortnightly Club Losers Entertain Winners at the Athletic Club

Members of the Fortnightly Bridge Club celebrated the close of a score contest when the winners entertained the losers with a dinner at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and an evening at the Orpheum. The dinner was served in the English room, a charming banquet hall which it is not easy to secure. The table around which the 12 guests were seated was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and very smart in all its appointments. In every respect the dinner was a triumph and showed that the winners are good sports.

The hosts were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. Frank Ayars, R. A. Puffer, and Mr. and Mrs. Howett. Their guests were Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Frank Ayars, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Wernette and Mr. and Mrs. William Sawyer. The entertainment at the Orpheum was the regular variety performance, but it so fitted the occasion that it had the effect of a special program.

"KING'S BUSINESS REQUIRES HASTE"

By REV. W. E. EDMONDS

The Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the Presbyterian Church founded his sermon on the above words, which were used by David and are recorded in 1 Sam. 21:2, 8.

Here are three things: the king, his business, the haste.

God is King. He is not on the throne as human kings are, but because He Himself has made the universe over which He rules. All that we know is the work of His hand—nevertheless, we say "Our Father."

The king's business is busy-ness. We are all of us business men and women. There is no such thing as separation between secular and religious; and whatever and wherever your business is, that is the king's business, and to him you must give an account. Do you realize that Jesus Christ inspects every piece of your work? Solomon's laboring men, we are told, "dwelt with the king for his work."

It is your privilege to dwell with the king for his work. In the king's business there are great fundamental principles. Jesus laid down this: the road to true greatness is the road to humility and service. The climax of the business of the king is—give. This is the biggest word in the vocabulary of heaven: "God so loved the world that He gave..."

The king's business requires haste. The world is on the rush after riches; but it has suffered measureless eternal loss for the lack of such speed in the king's business. Never was there such urgency as today for the doing all you can quickly. We may everyone have a part in the king's business, from the oldest to the youngest. The richest man in New York declared that his boyhood practice of giving out of his little earnings for Christian work had laid the foundation for his manhood's giving of millions. Train your little children to Christian giving.

We are ambassadors for the king. Let it be known that all you are and all you have is at his disposal.

MR. AND MRS. BURNS ENTERTAIN PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Burns of 1311 North Brand boulevard, Casa Verdugo, were host and hostess at a five-course dinner served last Thursday evening to a party of eight. The table was tastefully decorated with flowers from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Burns. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schaffer of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Everette Burns and son and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Burns. The Schaffers expect to locate in Casa Verdugo and will build a home in this locality at an early date.

WANTS "TIME OFF" DIDN'T COMMIT CRIME

(By International News Service) CHICAGO, March 14.—When a man serves five years in a federal prison for murder which he did not commit and then is pardoned should that fact be taken into consideration when he comes up for sentence for another crime? Richard Meal, found guilty of forging postal money orders for $908, told Judge Landis he had served 11 of the last 12 years in prison. Five of these were for the murder which he didn't commit. Judge Landis deferred sentence pending investigation.

"I AM THE WAY" IS THEME OF REV. FORD

First Sermon of Series From Single Scripture by Pastor of Baptist Church

Notwithstanding the downpour of rain on Sunday morning there was a good-sized congregation at the First Baptist church to hear the pastor, Rev. Ernest E. Ford, preach the first of a series, "Six Sermons From a Single Scripture." The Scripture verse is John, 14:6, "I am the way, the truth, the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me." The sermon Sunday morning was from the words: "I am the way." Oh, the restless, hurrying world; going, going, where are they going? Let us stop by the roadside of life for a few moments and see the procession go by. All hurrying; some loaded with bundles of care, faces drawn and haggard; some tottering with sickness and fatigue; some leaving dead and maimed bodies in the track of their mad haste. Where are they going? To find a resting place for their souls. "Somewhere there is an El Dorado, where I may lie down and rest, and unstrap this awful burden of sin. Which road shall I take?" This might be the answer of the world to the question, Where are you going?

"Here I am, just as I am. Over there somewhere, is home, and the really big things that sometimes stir my real self, my ideal of what I want to do and be. How shall I reach them?" Man has built a thousand roadways; launched out on unknown seas, hoping to find a short route to the land of their dreams. Philosophy, science and religion are all seeking to get at the heart of things; to answer the cry of the human soul for satisfaction.

The heart cry of the world is: "Show us the way to the Father's house." Weary, burdened, lost, humanity has longings that the work, shop, the playhouse, the school, the club, yea the church, cannot satisfy; they want to find the way home. After the machinery has been shut down for the day; after the players have all gone home and the lights are out; after the parade, with bands and banners has gone by; we find ourselves alone and so tired in body and soul and have wandered so far that we are lost; then the heart cry is for home. Which way shall we go? The soul was made to be restless, until it rests in God.

The heart cry of God is for His lost children. Oh, if we only could understand the yearning of our Heavenly Father toward us all. Over and over He says, "Come." "How oft would I have gathered them as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings; but ye would not."

Who shall answer the heart call of a lost world and of a yearning Father? God's only Son makes reply: "I am the way, no man cometh unto the Father but by me." Christ is the way to our Heavenly Father's heart, to His home, which Christ has gone to get ready for all who trust Him. There is no other way but this. Lost? "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save the lost." Burdened? "Come unto Me all ye that are weary and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Sinner? "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

He is the way from the seen to the unseen; from weakness to strength; from defeat to victory; from earth to heaven. "The way of the cross leads home."

At the evening service the pastor spoke from the subject: "Walk in the Way." Next Sunday he will speak in the morning from the words: "I am the Truth," and in the evening from the subject: "What I believe."

GLEE CLUB TO VISIT GLENDALE

Boys of California Institute of Technology to Make Music at the M. E. Church

A real treat is in store for Glendaleans, particularly the men who enjoy music that isn't too "highbrow." The glee club of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena is coming to Glendale to give a concert April 9 in the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Men's Bible class. The organization, which numbers about 20 students, played before the High school last year, but has never given a concert here or the general public before. It boasts a saxophone quartet, a mandolin quartet, a vocal quartet and a special soloist in Douglas MacKenzie. The bright, particular genius of the club is M. M. Barnes, who is a musical circus. He can play any kind of a wind or stringed instrument and make music from the most unpromising materials. His special stunt is a hand-saw solo. Willis Bush, the pianist, is scarcely less accomplished, and, besides, his piano numbers will be heard on the fine organ in the Methodist church. The program will include both classical and popular numbers with some rousing college songs at the end. Two Glendale boys, Hugh Freeman of West Acacia street and Lawrence Chandler of East Harvard, are members.

MAILCARRIER HAS VERY FINE RANCH

Spends Vacation Ploughing for Spring Crops; Prospects Are Favorable

F. E. Blodgett, one of our genial postmen, residing at 125 West Los Feliz road, has just returned from the San Joaquin valley, where he spent his two weeks vacation. Mr. Blodgett owns a 40-acre ranch near Ducor, and spent his vacation in ploughing and getting ready for the spring crops. He has ten acres in 7-year-old orange and grapefruit trees. That the trees are wonderful for bearing fruit of size and quality can be attested by the members of the Glendale Press staff, as they were fortunate in receiving samples. Mr. Blodgett also has 30 acres in grain, and was much encouraged by the favorable prospects for a big crop on his own ranch and the surrounding country. He reports that a wonderful development is taking place around Delano and McFarland, where thousands of acres are being planted to grapes, as the raisin men of Fresno are selling their grape vineyards there and coming to this section on account of the favorable soil and water.

C. OF C. FORUM MEETS THURSDAY

E. P. Hayward to Attend
Railroad Commission Meeting

An adjourned meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held last Friday evening at chamber headquarters, on West Broadway, at which committee reports were submitted and matters of interest in connection with the organization discussed.

For good reasons the midday forum meeting was changed from Wednesday to Thursday of each week and plans were made for an evening meeting to be held once a month to give those unable to attend the forum a chance to keep in touch with the activities of the chamber.

District Committee Chairman Hayward was instructed to represent the chamber at a meeting of the state railroad commission in Los Angeles Tuesday to consider telephone tolls.

The committee on committees made a report and asked for more time, as did the committee on permanent quarters.

The next meeting of the directorate will be held Tuesday and will be a dinner at the High School.

RECEPTION FOR THE REV. LOUIS TINNING

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison
Entertain for Assistant
Church Pastor

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison 'one evening the last of the week entertained Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds and elders of the Glendale Presbyterian Church and their wives in honor of Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor, who has recently come to Glendale. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Dr. Laura Brown, and her daughter, Miss Inez Harrison, and the Harrison home in Grand View was a bower of fruit blossoms, iris and sweet peas from their own garden and orchard. A two-course supper was served at the close of a pleasant evening of games and other social diversions. Those present were Rev. Louis Tinning, Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Isitt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Coldin, and Mrs. W. G. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Finlay, Mrs. W. J. Clendenin, Mrs. George Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison, Dr. Laura Brown and Miss Inez Harrison.

METHODIST CHURCH OF CASA VERDUGO

Casa Verdugo Methodist Church, at North Central avenue and Park Place, has shared in the growth of Glendale to such an extent that its members find themselves crowded for room.

For this reason they have begun work on a frame building, 48x60, to contain 16 Sunday school-class rooms and a large auditorium.

Excavation has been made and the cement work has been begun. The building, which will be erected at a cost of $16,000, will serve as a temporary edifice until the congregation, of which Dr. Edward O. Thayer is pastor, is ready to build a large church. J. Edwin Murphy is the architect and builder.

STORE BUILDING ON NORTH BRAND

Daniels & Betz are constructing the three-story building which Philip Parker is erecting at 209 North Brand. It is of old gold brick and is the only kind of gold brick Glendale is ready to subscribe for. The walls are about a story high at this writing. The contractors expect it to be completed about the middle of April.

CHRIST LIFTED UP DRAWS MEN TO HIM

More Souls Won to Christ in Past Century Than Any Other Says Dr. Funk

The following notes outline the discourse of Dr. H. C. Funk at the First Lutheran Church for the fifth Sunday in Lent:

Text, John, 12:32: "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." In the Gospel, according to Luke, we have an account of the Savior taking the disciples unto Himself. He makes known that He would be delivered into the hands of his enemies; that He would be meeked, scourged and put to death. But not withstanding this revelation of His approaching death, and of His resurrection, they did not understand the meaning of His words. And although Jesus knew that the end was near; knew what He would have to suffer, that He would be betrayed and die the death of the cross, He faltered not.

What an example of patient forbearance! We have seen Him the subject of cruel treatment, deserted by the ones He loved, suffering the agony of the garden, left to bear the cross alone, and yet no murmur of complaint falls from His lips.

The text is fully explained in the following verse, "This he said, signifying by what death he should die." A company of Greeks had come to Philip expressing a desire to see Jesus. The Savior replied that the time had come when the Son of Man should be glorified. It was also revealed that He would be glorified through suffering and in the salvation of men. In this hour of trial, let us hear the words of the Master: "Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour; but for this cause came I unto this hour. Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have glorified it, and will glorify it again." The people, therefore, that stood by and heard it said that it thundered; others said, "An angel spake unto him."

Jesus answered and said, "This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes. Now is the judgment of this world; now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

But, some one may say, Christ has been lifted up and yet millions of souls have never heard of Him. That may be true; but wherever the cross has been lifted up men have been drawn to Him, and the progressive work of redemption will finally be complete. More souls were won for Christ during the past century than during any other similar period of time. The most important question is, Are you drawn to the cross of Christ? Do you receive Him as your Savior, your substitute, and your sacrifice? Do we serve Him? Do we do as He did? Are we Christ-like, or are we Christless?

EX-SERVICE MEN LIKE CANDIDATES

Ex-service men, of whom there are many in Glendale, both in and out of the Glendale Post of the American Legion, are getting busy signing up petitions for their comrades, Captain Watson and Dr. Brown, who are candidates for the office of high school trustee. They say brothers-in-arms should hang together, all things being equal, and that, since both candidates are fine fellows and well qualified for the offices to be filled, they would like to see them win.

"THE CREED OF A CHRISTIAN"

Creeds Not Made to Sing and Recite, But to Live, Says
Rev. C. M. Calderwood

The following sermon by Rev. C. M. Calderwood reviews the tendency of the age to haggle over creeds:

This is not an age when we haggle over creeds. It is an age when many have an antipathy to creeds and when many pour contempt on all statements of belief. We hear Christian people say that they do not believe in creeds. If the Christian means that he does not believe that the church today should spend its time haggling over and formulating and reciting long drawn-out statements of unessentials, then there are doubtless many that are disposed to agree with him. We do not care to fit everyone into the same mold, and we do not care to limit ourselves by attempting to put on paper everything we believe. Jesus did not do this, and neither did the earliest teachers of the church.

But when a man says that he does not believe in creeds and by it means that it is not necessary for a man to have any dominating convictions and to hold to some individual creed, we are not disposed to agree with him.

We all have creeds, unless we have committed mental suicide. The fool who said in his heart, "There is no God," had a creed and a poor one. He would have a difficult time proving such a negative proposition. The man who says that he does not believe in creeds has already stated his creed. Talk politics with such a man and you will soon find that he has a very definite creed. The agnostic who insists that we cannot know anything about God, the soul or immortality, is a man with a creed and he will sit up nights to defend it. The only persons who do not have creeds of some kind are those who do not think. The moment we begin to think that moment we begin to have convictions.

We hear people say that they do not care what a man believes. This is stupid psychology. There is no antithesis between believing and doing. Two modes of life they are, but they are complementary. There are three factors in all human consciousness: sensation, thought and action. Sensation and thought have action implicit in them, and action is the fulfillment of sensation and thought. There are few of us who do one thing and believe another.

It makes a great difference what a man believes. It makes a difference whether it is true or false. It is folly for a man to build the foundation of his life upon a foundation that will soon be swept away. It makes a difference to us when we ride a train going 60 miles an hour what the engineer believes. It makes some difference when we are ill what the physician believes. It makes a vast difference to any man what he believes. His creed is the chart for the sea upon which he sails.

Jesus laid great emphasis upon the truth. He said that He was the truth. He said, "Ye shall know the truth." He told us to love the Lord our God with all our minds. He invited and commanded men to use their brains.

Life is made rich by the great and eternal truths which we have made ours and not by the meagerness of what we believe. Life is not made rich by the barrenness of belief but by the abundance. Life is made richer by belief in God, Jesus, the Bible, prayer and the life everlasting. It makes a vast difference what we think about these.

But a creed is not made to sing and to recite; it is made to live. This is what science does with its creeds. We know its creeds because it works them out. Our creeds are not what we recite but what we live.

We have tied up with creeds that were formed in an age of metaphysical speculation. The historic creeds were not born out of an age of Christian service but out of an age of controversy. Many of our creeds are not Christian at all, for there is not a note of ethical idealism in them. The Apostles' Creed is not a Christian creed in the largest sense, for it falls far short of a program for Christian action. There is not an ethical word in it. It might satisfy a metaphysician but not an active Christian. It is not the Apostles' Creed, for the apostles did not have anything to do with it.

The minute we recite our creeds others will argue back with another. But when we live our creeds, as the scientist does, when we proclaim them by lives of service in following the leadership of Jesus, we do not invite controversy. A church that recites formulas that have nothing to do with life is rotting at the core. Let us translate our creed into our program, and what we cannot translate let it go.

BOLD, BAD THIEF ROBS JUDGE LOWE

The fact that an attempt was made recently to burglarize the home of Judge F. H. Lowe at 643 North Central avenue, is proof that Glendale has some very bold bad men. During the night the judge, who is a light sleeper, heard a queer clicking noise at his kitchen door and made a quiet investigation that would not awaken his wife. He failed to discover the visitor he was looking for and returned to his bed to sleep the balance of the night. In the morning the screen door was found to be ruined by long cuts which had evidently been made to secure access to the inner door. The judge is quite a gunman and has an enviable record as an expert marksman and rifle shot. When he came to Glendale he had an arsenal of nine guns which he used for different purposes. But he has been converted to paths of peace and has been presenting arms to his friends until he has but one left, an automatic, which rests under his pillow every night. He is a man of action and says it would have gone hard with the thief had he gained an entrance.

DEVELOPMENT COMES THROUGH WORK

The value of each man is that he has no duplicate. The one important thing for him to begin is the development of his own intrinsic effectiveness. A man is at his best when he is at his work—the work he loves best and can do best. His soul breathes then, if it ever breathes at all. True, there are men who seem to possess only the embryo of a soul; and the lower the evolution of the man, the harder to find a task for him to distinguish; this gives the man of higher development his chance to be more tender, more understanding, more eager, more helpful.

All restlessness, all misery, all crime—what are they but the result of the betrayal of one's inner life? One is not doing one's work—the work one was made for; perhaps one has never found it. All education that does not aim to help the student discover his lifework is vain—even demoralizing—for if his individual force is not developed, he sinks deeper into the herd, discouraged and unhappy and restless and prone to evil.

Give a man his work and there need be no worry concerning his morals or his manners. Kipling conceived heaven as a place where

Only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame,
But each for the joy of working, and each in his separate star,
Shall draw the Thing as he sees It for the God of Things as They are!

WATCH MERCHANTS' SALES CLOSELY

Glendale merchants will launch a campaign to clean out their shelves this month. While lower prices have prevailed the past few weeks, they are not comparable with the bargains that will be offered in a ten-day sale to be inaugurated soon. One of the greatest epochs of forced draught selling in the history of the country is here. Merchants are going to sell goods regardless of what was paid for them. Wise persons in Glendale will study advertising from now on as never before. It is a buyers' market, with the sellers up against the wall gasping for breath, but willing to do all they can to clear the decks for that era of normalcy which is several months in the offing.

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF ROADS NOT SOLUTION

The statements recently made by Senator Cummins, co-author of the transportation act, and by William G. McAdoo that the railroads of the country as drifting toward government ownership, draw from the Portland Evening Telegram a note of warning in an editorial which succinctly sets forth the views held in railroad circles.

"This may be true," says the Telegram, referring to the assertions of Senator Cummins and Mr. McAdoo, "but government ownership will not be a solution of the problem. It would fasten upon this country the evils for which we are trying to find a remedy.

"Every informed person knows that the railroads are in a very bad way just now. They have been so for a period of four months. The very heavy volume of traffic produced by the country's crops did not enter into tonnage after the last harvest. An unprecedented large percentage of the crops is still held by the growers or is stored in warehouses awaiting a better market. This condition, of course, cannot last. There will be a heavier tonnage in the spring.

"The theory that our national government or a state or municipal government can create traffic is so unsound that if you called it idiotic you would not be far wrong, and to say that any government, large or small, in this country is an efficient business man is to voice an obvious untruth."

STUDYING FOOD VALUES IN SCHOOL

It has been found that the school lunch has another value besides furnishing the child with a warm lunch, composed of proper articles of food. In every case where food values are taught in the schools where school lunches are served, it has been found that the children made progress in weight. Improvement in weight and physical condition is followed by improved school work.

Authorities state, on the other hand, that the school lunch without this education in food values and food combinations does not contribute nearly as much to the improvement of the child. Boys and girls, they say, who have been taught what to eat and who have then been given the opportunity to eat it, are impressed with the practical lesson and carry it home, where the demonstration is easily repeated. The parents are interested in the subject and many of them have been known to come to school to find out from the teacher what it all means; thus the most valuable link in the chain of health for the school child is forged, and often the health of others in the family is also benefited.

The problem of dietetics has only of late years begun to come into its own; even physicians do not seem to know the subject as thoroughly as they should. So many bodily ills result from faulty digestion, due either to the food itself, to improper combinations of foods or to the condition of the organs which must handle the food in the work of digestion that it seems strange that more of us have not striven for an intelligent working knowledge of the subject of foods and their proper combination and amount. Nothing is so vital to the individual, to the family, the community and the nation as health; and no education is more vital than a knowledge of foods, their preparation and proper combinations for body-building. Man cannot enjoy life to the full, nor do his physical or mental efforts yield him adequate returns, unless his system is properly nourished.

It is now a recognized fact that more diseases have arisen from wrong food habits than from the drink habit. There are many who look with patronizing pity or cold contempt on the victims of alcohol, who are themselves, unknowingly, diseased of body through the unintelligent use of food.

We should not be satisfied with anything less than perfect health, and we are beginning to realize that this condition of perfect health is a possibility for nearly everyone willing to study and heed the laws of proper eating.

The whole problem of perfect health and efficient life is solved by keeping the supply of assimilated food equal to the demand, by keeping a forceful circulation, so that nourishment may reach all tissues and so that waste may be eliminated, and by full breathing habits, to supply sufficient oxygen to put the waste in condition for assimilation. The study of these vital questions by the children of our schools ought to tend to the development of a new and far more virile race of Americans.

POPOCATAPETL IN VERY ANGRY MOOD

Scientists Make Trip to Edge of Crater and Report Great Volume of Smoke

(By International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, March 14.—One large and several small new craters have opened on Mt. Popocatepetl from which gas and smoke are pouring, but there is no immediate danger of a flow of lava, according to the findings of the special commission of scientists appointed by the National Geological Institute. The commission has just returned to Mexico City with its report after undergoing severe hardships in order to observe the activities of the volcano. The effect of the report has been to remove much of the fear of the inhabitants of nearby towns that a great eruption was imminent.

Senor Francisco de P. Tenorio, one of the members of the commission, in describing the trip up the mountain, said:

"We started at Ameca Meca, then went to Atlxico. There we spent the night and the following day trudged up to San Antonio de Los Ranchos. The next morning we reached Santa Rita y Tlamacas. At all these points we installed seismograph apparatus to observe if there were any oscillations, but none was registered.

"After an arduous trip we reached the very mouth of the crater. We were able to remain there only ten minutes because of the great volume of smoke and gas being emitted. This filled our eyes and nostrils and we were compelled to prostrate ourselves in order to avoid being overcome. During these ten minutes we succeeded in filling several receptacles with particles thrown out of the crater. These we will carefully analyze to ascertain the gaseous and other elements they contain.

"In our observations at the crater we discovered the new and smaller openings from which came torrents of sulphurous gases. From the side visible from Puebla we discovered various secondary craters recently developed and which might in time become dangerous. Around the top of the crater the snow, which is perpetual on the mountain, was covered with red sand.

"The noise and scene at the mouth of the crater are indescribable. Like steam escaping from a hundred locomotives the gas shoots forth and a great sound like the simultaneous discharge of many pieces of artillery made it seem as if the historic old mountain was about to burst. Immediately following this perfect quiet prevailed.

"There was no lava coming from the volcano and we did not see any flashes of fire at night, as described by natives of that region. The emissions were purely of smoke and gas. There is no danger at present, in my opinion. The only cause for alarm would be if through an electrical storm or friction the gases should become ignited. This might make it unsafe for the residents in that territory."

PAINTED SERVANTS CAN BE PLAIN MAIDS

(By International News Service)
JOLIET, Ill., March 14.—Rouge, lipstick and half-hose are no barriers to applicants for positions as housemaids, according to Mrs. Catherine Langdon, in charge of the woman's division of the Illinois employment bureau here.

"Maids who rouge their cheeks, paint their lips, roll their silk stockings and have their eyebrows plucked find places as rapidly as do the sombre gownned girls of yesterday," declared Mrs. Langdon.

"Although reports have reached us that the housewives have said they would rather get along without help than employ these dolled up beauties we have no complaint from those we have placed.

"The girl who cannot only cook attractively but look attractive is a welcome addition to Joliet homes, and the good wages paid her are often an inducement to adorn herself and make the most of her charms."

JUROR GOT WREATH BUT WASN'T DEAD

(By International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—After receiving a beautiful floral wreath from his fellow members on the jury who believed him dead, A. E. French, of No. 73 Montcalm street, East, walked into court and thanked them, but assured them positively that he was alive and kicking.

He was serving on the jury in Circuit Court and when he did not report for duty it was announced that he had died. The jurors contributed for a beautiful wreath as a token of esteem for their departed member, and it was sent to his home. French explained that he had mixed up the dates on which he was ordered to report.

MUSICAL PROGRAM OF GREAT MERIT

The music section of the Friday Afternoon Club has won such fame for its worthy musical program that it was not surprising that Friday's meeting, at which members of the section were guests of Mrs. Walter Jones, 430 West Vine street, was attended by 60 guests.

A program of Spanish music by prominent musical people of Glendale was the treat arranged for the day. Mrs. A. H. Mitchell read an exhaustive carefully prepared paper on Spanish composers and Spanish music, which was listened to with attentive interest. Mrs. Frank Arnold delighted the audience with two solos, given in her usual finished manner. Her selections were "Gypsy Maiden," by H. P. Parker, and "Marie, Marie," by Eduardo di Tapua, the latter being given in response to an insistent encore.

Mrs. A. H. Dibbern contributed to the afternoon's pleasure two piano solos, playing in her characteristic musicianly manner Moskowski's Spanish Dance and Rachminoff's Prelude in C sharp minor. Miss Viola Yorba, in Spanish costume, was delightful in her Spanish songs, "Claretitos," by Estico J. Valverde, and "Hasta Manana," by M. H. Stufgiss and W. P. Blake. For an encore she sang Gradier's ever popular "La Paloma."

Decorations of marigold and asparagus gave a festive air to the Jones home, and refreshments of cake and ice cream were served by the hostess and her assistant hostesses, Mesdames Bert Ward and George Herald.

BIBLE SCENES AT BURBANK

Sacred Film Company Establishing Studio to Make Reels for Church Use

It is expected that work will soon begin at the Burbank Studio of the Sacred Film Company which expects to be occupied for about five years in the production of Bible sets for use in churches and missionary work. A few reels of old testament incidents have already been shown in New York with tremendous success.

Mrs. Lillian Rambeau of this city has been engaged as a player, but she does not know what parts will be assigned her. She thinks she will make an excellent Noah's wife, but her friends say she would also make a good Miriam or Judith.

The first work will picture garden of Eden scenes and Eve's part, which Mrs. Rambeau does not expect to take, will at least have the merit of not requiring an elaborate wardrobe.

MRS. MAX GREEN ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Max Green was hostess last week to about 25 ladies from La Canada, members of the Thursday Afternoon Club of that community, of which Mrs. Green was formerly a member. In the pretty floral setting for the affair Mrs. Green used carnations and calendulas to carry out the club colors, crimson and gold. Following a business session papers were read on home economics and a general discussion took place. Little cakes with a fancy decoration of frosting were served with coffee at the dainty refreshment table, the hostess' mother, Mrs. B. D. Jackson, pouring.

OUR NEW HIGH SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Election Will Be Held on March 25 to Elect Two Trustees

Editor of The Press:

There are four candidates willing to brave initiation into the mysteries and obligations of trusteeship: Watson and Brown, advanced by the Federated (church) Brotherhood, and Chandler and Phelon, proposed to the Federated P. T. A. by a group of citizens.

I wonder what each initiate would undertake to do "for the good of the order" were he duly elected. Would Captain Watson have compulsory military training, furnishing all the boys "tin hats" and preparing them to join "Glendale's Own"? Would Dr. Brown start a class in medicine? Would Attorney Chandler favor adding a law course? Would Mr. Phelon favor including in the chemistry course a study of how to make better fuel gas?

Many of us in this world and Sunny Glendale are prone to take life too seriously. There are many old adages that counsel us otherwise, such as: "Laugh and grow fat," etc., and we are all pretty well convinced that Ella Wheeler Wilcox was particularly inspired when she wrote: "Laugh, and the world laughs with you; weep, and you weep alone." So, let us be cheerful when there is nothing to weep over—nothing to worry over; nothing to fight over. Let's smile and do our best in a pleasant way.

TRUSTEE STOCK.

PEDIGREES AND QUALIFICATIONS Following the lead of one of our daily papers in its "write-up" of one of the candidates, I will refer to them all as "Trustee Stock."

The paper quoted says: "Captain T. D. Watson of Fighting Stock. A Natural Sequence That the Captain Should Follow in Footsteps of Ancestors." Consequently, Captain Watson must be considered "Fighting Stock." Another daily states that he is an elder in the Presbyterian church, etc., etc. Then he has the right to be known as the "Fighting Elder."

The last-mentioned paper, speaking of our friend, Dr. H. V. Brown, says that he "comes" from that good old middle-western land of corn, Iowa. Now, is it proper to refer to the doctor as "Iowa Stock," or "Corn Stock"? But let me say right here that, while he was one Iowa corn stack, I was another and that if I had three votes to cast in the coming election, instead of two, one would be for him.

The other two candidates come unheralded, unsung, unphotographed, but not unknown.

Attorney Charles L. Chandler probably would not like to be referred to as "Common Stock," and we cannot know until after the election if he is "Preferred Stock." But this we do know: he is mighty good stock from which to fashion a school trustee. He is well-seasoned and sound to the core. He has four children to send through high school, and he wants it to be the best school that can be had.

W. R. Phelon has simply no alternative but to be dubbed "Gas Stock." You may not at all times like the quality of gas the company furnishes, but nobody blames "Bill" for that, and all who know him know why the Southern California Gas Company has never tried to find a man to take his place as manager in Glendale.

Some of our liberty-loving citizens may not approve of a church brotherhood going into school politics, but "it were ever thus," and that is why we have animated elections at times. But let it be said of the "Brotherhood" that they put up the best material they had available and had no alternative I would gladly vote for "Elder" Watson and "Doc" Brown, but, under the circumstances I am going to vote for "Charley" Chandler and "Bill" Phelon and, with them, for a new 20-acre high school site at once and a complete new high school as soon as we can afford it.

H. M. BUTTS.

CANDIDACY OF C. L. CHANDLER

Charles L. Chandler, who is a candidate for the office of High school trustee, says that he, too, was born in Iowa and that perhaps is the reason why he has an especially friendly feeling for his rival, Dr. H. V. Brown. He was graduated from the Cornell college of law and has been a resident of California for 17 years, almost long enough to make him feel like a native son. Eight years of the 17 have been spent in Glendale and he is thoroughly rooted here. It is a reason, possibly, why he is deeply interested in the welfare of our public schools. He has not always found himself in agreement with others when the question of taking care of school congestion has arisen, and he says he has not shifted from the position he took when he opposed the purchase of ground to extend the present high school site; that he still believes the site should be sold, but not until it can be disposed of to advantage. He points out that values are increasing rapidly in the business district and have doubled within the last 18 months, and if Glendale duplicates the history of other towns of its character the business district around Brand and Broadway will soon begin to "square off," or widen out.

When asked if he did not consider it desirable to have a high school in the center of town that would be available for night school when the need develops, as it is likely to do, he said, "Yes," and that he imagined it would be many years before those buildings would cease to be used for school purposes. They might eventually be converted into an intermediate or junior high school. Also, he thought it unfortunate that an outside site had not already been acquired because the longer the matter is delayed, the more difficult will it be to find a suitable location, and the opportunities will probably never be so good as they were a few months ago. He said he hoped eventually to see the high school on grounds the town could be proud of and the building construction standardized and of a character suited to California that would also be economical.

Mr. Chandler is credited with disinterested motives and absolute sincerity even by those who differ with him widely on school policies.

EIGHT BLOCKS IN CONTEMPLATION

If rumors that have been floating around the business district for several days are to be trusted, the block on the west side of Brand boulevard, between Harvard street and Colorado, will soon be built up solidly with the exception of a lot owned by Mrs. Phister between the Studebaker and the Buick agencies. No plans have been announced for the improvement of that lot, but on all the rest are castles in the air. The foundation is already in for the building which is to house Wishart & Son, now located across the street. Next to the Wishart property is a lot owned by Mr. Herrington, and he is credited with an intention to improve it. North of the Herrington lot is 50 feet owned by J. M. Blankenship, on which a building is likely to rise unless rumor is very much mistaken. A two-story building has been assigned to the next lot which is owned by Allen Davenport, son of the real estate operator, Hal Davenport, who occupies the building on the lot next adjoining his son's property, on the north. Between that building and Furbeck's Art Store is the lot on which the McGowan building is to be erected, a two-story affair with an apartment above, which Mr. McGowan will occupy. In the space remaining between McGowan's holdings and the Bartlett & French agency are lots owned by Albert Leighton, E. Coker and Mr. Sherwood, which are to be improved unless rumor lies. Plans have already been made for the Coker building, for which Kent & Son have the contract. Messrs. Coker and Sherwood are uniting in a party wall.

HOLLOW TILE IN NEW HOUSE

The new home which Dr. Henry R. Harrower is erecting is to be built of a tile which it is said has never before been employed in this city. It is a hollow tile, equivalent in the space it fills to six bricks and is known as the "Universal Unit." The hollow compartments are so arranged as to defeat the capillary attraction which in ordinary tile would carry moisture to the inside of the wall. The doctor figures that the additional cost will not exceed 5 per cent. The house will be, to all practical purposes, fireproof and will have a coating of stucco on the outside.

UNIQUE HOUSE ON GLENDALE AVENUE

An unique house that has but recently been completed is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kleber at the corner of Lomita and Glendale avenue, facing north and east, where it commands an enchanting view of the foothills and peaks. The lot is irregular in shape and the house has been designed to conform to it, the width from north to south in front being considerably greater than across the rear of the house, which has a flat roof and a sloping cornice, covered with red tile. The walls are plaster finished and the house is typically Mexican in its architecture and coloring, the blue paint of the window trim sharply contrasting with the bright color of the tile against the neutral tint of the plastered wall. In the interior the irregularity of shape adds to the attractiveness and provides unexpected projections and nooks, which have been skillfully utilized for closets and cupboards. A charming sun parlor across the west exposure is one of the pleasant features.

Mrs. Ann C. McGowan of 1721 Gardena avenue leaves today for San Jacinto, where she will make her home in the future, having rented her home in Glendale.

WOMEN AND GIRLS STRUGGLE FOR LIFE

Over Half Million Without Work and the Number Growing Fast

(By International News Service)
LONDON, March 14.—Unemployment among women and girls in England is reaching a point of desperation, according to Miss Margaret Bondfield, secretary of the Women's Trade Union League.

She will pause in her struggle to find a way out to give facts and figures with the deadly accuracy and precision of an adding machine, enlightening them with specific instances of hopeless individual struggles for existence.

In England there are registered a total of 600,000 women and girls who are totally unemployed or who work only one or two days a week. The figure for totally unemployed, a quarter of a million, has been increasing by about 10,000 each week.

"Unemployed is still on the increase," Miss Bondfield said, "and we have every reason to expect that it will become worse."

"One of the most pitiful cases reported is that of an orphan girl who served two and a half years in munition work during the war. Last week she registered at a labor exchange. There alone 4000 women and girls were registered, and there were twenty-five jobs available. In utter despair she attempted to commit suicide. She is now being befriended by a woman almost as poor as herself."

"All over the country the period during which unemployment benefits may be drawn is ending. Hundreds of thousands are losing their last chance of obtaining maintenance. We are putting pressure on the Government to act at once and extend the period of maintenance."

"All this unemployment is having a disastrous effect upon the standard of life. Simultaneously a definite attempt is being made to reduce women wages. It is driving us to despair."

"All the work we have done is now being threatened, and whole groups of women are being driven back to such wages as they received before the Trade Boards Act of 1909. It is an object lesson to women on the importance of organizing themselves in industry, but meantime the poorly paid groups are bearing the brunt of the attack."

"We are asking to meet the immediate case, the extension of unemployment benefit and immediate placing of contracts which would ordinarily be given out later in the year. A great deal of distress would be relieved if the Government and local government boards would at once place contracts for clothing, foodstuff and so on."

"We are also campaigning to have women share with men in the various training schemes. There are large numbers of girls and women who did war work during the period when they would normally have been in training for domestic service. They have no training for domestic service and cannot find employment."

"This class tried to remain in industrial work after the war in preference to entering domestic service. They are now only too willing to enter the trade which they formerly avoided, and are anxious for training."

Although there has been a crying demand for good domestic servants, the labor exchanges have 23,000 unemployed women listed for such work. An overwhelming majority of them totally untrained.

CHILD CLAIMED BY TWO MOTHERS

(By International News Service)
DETROIT, March 14.—A circuit court will decide which of two women is the mother of Clara Allie Le Bowitz, aged 5.

Mrs. Caroline Le Bowitz, 28, one of the "mothers," is in jail awaiting trial on a charge of cruelty to the child, who is in the Children's Free Hospital, her face disfigured for life by a knife cut and her back scarred from many beatings.

The other "mother" is Mrs. Antonio Allie, 29, who claims that she only "loaned" Clara to Mrs. Le Bowitz six months ago, so that the child could get a better education.

MEN CARRY PARASOLS WOMEN USE MONOCLES

(By International News Service)
PARIS, March 14.—Usually considered the forerunners of Spring styles in Paris, fashions at Nice this winter have undergone noticeable changes. Thus, men today carry small, brightly-colored sunshades and women are wearing monocles and carrying light canes with truly masculine gestures.

SULKY WIVES NOT CONDUCTIVE TO HAPPINESS

Judge Says More Husbands Are Snubbed Into Divorce Than Talked to Death

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 14.—The woman who sulks instead of the woman who talks, is the greatest matrimonial menace, according to Judge Sabath, divorce chancellor of the superior court here. "Fifty per cent of the men who come to my court seeking a divorce have had their chances for matrimonial happiness wrecked by wives who wouldn't talk. The most dangerous kind of a helpmeet is the woman who sulks."

"I have found," he continued, "that the majority of divorces are the result of the petty meanness in folks—the trivial peevishness of every-day living."

"When wives file suit alleging that their husbands are cruel, it's a 50 to 1 chance that they don't mean, that they have been kicked or slapped or physically mistreated. The cruelty referred to is usually one of a mental character. It is even more true of divorce-seeking husbands."

"They charge their wives with having made them the target of household bric-a-brac or of tossing crocks at their heads, but the fact of the matter is the divorce bills are camouflaging the real trouble. I believe the majority of unhappy husbands are tired of their wives because the latter sulk and refuse to talk when they are displeased with something the husband has or has not done."

"When a man says, 'Dear, did you have a good time at the movies this afternoon?' and the wife answers by tilting her chin in the air and calmly ignoring the fact that her husband has addressed her, there's going to be trouble."

"You see," the jurist explained, "a man is vain. He thinks every statement he makes should be carefully heeded. When the wife attempts to chastise him by refusing to talk, his pride is hurt. Frequently he tries the same plan. Then it is not very long until the home is as quiet as a tomb and the air is charged with divorce electricity."

MUSIC HATH NO CHARMS FOR HIM

(By International News Service)
DETROIT, March 14.—Although Mrs. Ernest Benjamin, under the name of Alma M. Sanders, of 219 West Forty-sixth street, New York, is the author of more than 30 published love songs, she failed to hold the affections of her husband, Benjamin, who has brought suit for divorce, told Judge Dingeman that "music broke up his home." He testified in court that Mrs. Benjamin kept late hours and often did not return home until 3 a. m. She refused to cook his breakfast, he charged. Mrs. Sanders wrote "Tumble Down Shack of Athlone," "Some Pet" and "Lavender and Lace" and many other popular songs.

BLIND 23 YEARS; RECOVERS SIGHT

(By International News Service)
LONDON, March 14.—Pegham, South Wales, the scene of the restoration of a woman's sight after 23 years of blindness, has provided a new sensation. A schoolgirl resident who had been ill with lung trouble was laid out for dead. When the coffin arrived on the third day a light was taken into the room. The girl immediately sat up in bed and asked: "Where is dad?" The father rushed into the room and carried the girl into another room so that the girl should not see that she had been laid out for dead. She has since recovered.

RAREST OF THE RARE A POPULAR LANDLORD

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 14.—If there is a heaven for landlords the six tenants of Matthew Brown of Forest Park declare he will be a charter member. Last spring one of Mr. Brown's tenants almost caused him nervous prostration by raising his own rent to $23 because he said "it was worth it." Mr. Brown accepted the increase, but failed to raise the rent of the other tenants. Rents for flats in the same block range in price for four rooms, unheated, from $30 to $35, and for four rooms, heated, from $45 to $60. Recently Mr. Brown announced a reduction to $18 for all of his six flats. And the building is in the best residence district of Forest Park and only three blocks from the "L."

SPIRITS MOVE HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Coal Is Floated From Cellar to First Floor and Step-ladder Dances

(By International News Service)
LONDON, March 14.—Very extraordinary and strange things have happened in a North London house recently.

Loud explosions like bombs have been heard, lumps of coal have been unaccountably propelled by some unknown agency in all directions, brooms have flown violently from a landing into the kitchen, while glass and china have been smashed and windows broken.

A boy sitting on a chair was raised with the chair from the ground.

The occupier of the house, a Mr. Frost, gave an interesting account of the household's uncanny experiences.

"The disturbances," he said, "started about a month ago, when we heard a series of loud explosions coming from the coal cellar. We went down into the cellar and found that the coal had been thrown about in all directions. Thinking that perhaps there was something the matter with the coal, we removed it from the cellar into the garden, which is at the back of the house."

"At 8 o'clock the next morning the whole family, there are no servants kept, was seated at breakfast. There was a sudden crash, and coal was found on the first floor landing."

"So it has gone on. We have ordered fresh coal, but, with brief intervals of peace, coal is projected from somewhere from any and every direction apparently, smashing gas globes, vases and china."

Up to a little while ago it was only coal that had been the chief center of disturbances, but now there is another development.

"One Sunday while I was at church," said Mr. Frost, "my son was at home in the kitchen and without the slightest warning he saw the stepladder rise and fall several times and some long brooms that were just outside the kitchen-door came flying into the room at him."

"On the day following we were at tea," he continued, "when the plates in front of my two sons rose up off the table and fell again without breaking."

These are but some of the strange things that have happened in the house.

According to Mr. Frost, when the elder boy was out of the house nothing happened, and he also says that when these manifestations occur they coincide with the presence of some youthful member of the household.

None of the family are connected in any way with any spiritualistic society and the question is being freely asked all over the district, in fact, over London, as to what can be the possible reason for these strange happenings.

If the theory of an unknown force is accepted, then the utter want of purpose or meaning in the manifestations has to be admitted. But this lack of meaning may well be an argument in favor as to their genuineness.

Meanwhile, the Society of Psychical Research is investigating the strange happenings, and their finding is being eagerly awaited by the whole of spiritualistic London.

OLDEST METHODIST HAS BIRTHDAY

(By International News Service)
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., March 14.—The world's oldest Methodist, Mrs. Mary Potter, of Dwight, Ill., has just celebrated her 107th birthday anniversary.

She was born in Essex County, New York, in 1814, and she came to Illinois soon afterward. Her neighbors then were principally Indians.

Mrs. Potter is a real daughter of the American Revolution. Her grandfather was a soldier of the Revolutionary War; her own father was in the War of 1812, while she furnished supplies to the soldiers of the Mexican War; the Civil War, the war with Spain, and the late war with Germany. Four of her great-grandchildren were with the American Expeditionary Force in France.

To attract settlers to Illinois in the early part of its existence, as a State land was given away and Mrs. Potter and her husband became owners of a fine farm in Livingston County. This is the only tract in Illinois, and per-

PRESIDENT APPEALS CONTINUANCE OF AID

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Harding has issued an appeal to the American people to continue their aid to famine-stricken China.

"The American nation has never failed to demonstrate its friendship for the people of China," the President's appeal said, "and that friendship has always been reciprocated in a manner which I feel justifies the hope that in this hour of China's great distress our people will do everything in their power for its amelioration."

happ in the United States, which has never changed ownership after the original grant by the government.

Mr. Potter died thirty years ago. Mrs. Potter then removed to Dwight.

Of the eight children born to the couple all died from old age except one son, Albert, who now lives at Peru, Ind. A daughter died three years ago, aged seventy-six.

Failing eyesight and deafness have been her principal infirmities, but her mind has remained unimpaired.

WILL INVESTIGATE WAGE CONTROVERSY

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 14.—President Harding's suggestion, offered through Secretary of Labor Davis, that the packers and their employees each send representatives to Washington to aid in an investigation of the packing house wage controversy, has been agreed to by both sides, it was unofficially but authoritatively learned.

Formal replies from both the packers and the unions are expected to be forwarded to the President. No names of representatives have as yet been suggested.

STORY OF NEHEMIAH A COMPELLING ONE

Sermon by Rev. O. P. Rider

Nehemiah 3:28. Everyone over against his own house.

The story of Nehemiah is a brilliant and compelling one. Though a Jewish exile in a far country, he had risen to the office of cupbearer to the king. Artaxerxes, and from him received permission to return to Jerusalem for a visit, and assistance in his mission, namely, the fortifying of that city.

Arrived there, Nehemiah lost no time but according to a definite plan, set everyone at work. Each man, equipped for labor and armed for defense, worked on that part of the wall nearest his own home. In 52 days the wall was finished.

What is there in this for us? Just a forcible case showing the results of cooperation. The task could never have been done by men working independently. There is a great necessity today that the whole church should cooperate in its task under the leadership of Christ. The enemy is powerful, the opposition is determined. The church with one thought, loyalty to Christ, must unite in sympathetic, loyal devotion. But first we must have cooperation in the individual communion and in the individual church. The unit must be strengthened before the aggregate can be. The smaller the church the greater the need for cooperation.

But the most powerful part is that we may cooperate with God. Not John Knox, not John Calvin, not John Wesley nor Augustine nor Paul alone, but we are fellow workers with God.

When Jesus fed the five thousand he had no need for the little lad's lunch nor the help of the disciples, but he graciously blessed the five barley loaves and two small fishes and breaking it, gave it to the disciples, saying: "Give ye them to eat." When he called Lazarus back to life he permitted his friends to roll away the stone.

God works and he expects us to work with Him. The engineer must open the throttle or the engine will not move. God won't open it for him. It will not open itself. The trolley must come in connection with the power before it will start. The farmer may think he has produced the harvest, but he has only worked with what God has furnished him. All we have is God-given—we must work with Him or not at all.

God has always used man as an agent. He is so using him today if he will be used, and who are we to fold our hands and refuse to be co-workers with God?

It's not the pulpit eloquence Nor funds the members pay, But the close cooperation That makes us win the day. It's not the individual Nor the members as a whole, But the everlasting teamwork Of every blessed soul.

SMART DINNER FOR MARGARET LUSBY

Miss Margaret Lusby has again been feted. This time she was the guest of honor at a smartly appointed dinner given by Misses Eunice Peart and Doris Ingledue at Saturday evening at the Mary Louise Tea Room in Los Angeles. Centering the table was a large, low basket filled with varicolored spring flowers and tied with satin ribbon of orchid shade. At each corner was a little figurine dressed in pastelle shades, suggestive of a bridal party, and between the dolls tall candelabra, in which were candles that matched the costumes of the dolls. Hand-painted cards marked the places of the guests, Miss Lusby's card representing a bride. Ten guests were seated around the big, round table, all relatives or old-time friends of the honoree, viz: Mrs. C. D. Lusby, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. C. R. Lusby, Mrs. Frank Weller, Mrs. Wilbur Lee, Miss Wainita Emery, Miss Muriel Turner, Miss Martha Ray, Miss Lusby and the hostesses.

ANOTHER SON BORN IN FAR-OFF AFRICA

Word has been received from the Congo region in far-off Africa, that another son, the second, has been born to Dr. Ernest and Mrs. Evelyn Utter Pearson. It has been named Paul.

Mrs. Pearson is the eldest daughter of Rev. J. W. Utter, who organized the Central Christian Church of Glendale and was its pastor for five years. She has many friends and well wishers in Glendale.

City Manager Watson has been invited to address the ladies of the Intermediate P. T. A. at the school-house, this afternoon, on the various bonds issues to be voted on March 29.

ABOUT PEOPLE YOU KNOW

J. P. Dean and wife are at their large farm near Huron, South Dakota, to look after spring planting and the summer work, expecting to return to Glendale in the fall. Mrs. Dean was formerly Mrs. Anna Current.

Mr. Thomas Hoskins, 409 West Ivy street, will be confined to his home for several weeks because of an operation on the major toe of each foot. The operation was performed at the Pacific Hospital and was successful.

Mrs. W. J. Walsh and baby of 442 Vine street left Friday for Rockford, Ill. They go to the bedside of Mrs. Walsh's father, who is in the hospital and in a critical state of health. Rockford is Mrs. Walsh's old home, which she has not visited for two years. She expects to be gone about three months.

The Women's Union of the Baptist church held their annual election of officers last Thursday, in connection with their regular all-day meeting. The result of the election was as follows: President, Mrs. Ernest E. Ford; first vice president, Mrs. Roger Bentley; second vice president, Mrs. J. P. King; third vice president, Mrs. Roy L. Kent; secretary, Mrs. J. R. Bright; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ethel Jordan; treasurer, Mrs. William Grigg. Splendid reports were given by the retiring officers of the activities of the past year.

The "Tri-Mu Class" of the Baptist church is engaged in a fierce conflict. A week ago Sunday the members of the class lined up around two captains, Mr. A. J. Maxwell and Dale Wood, for a contest for new members. The winners are to be treated to a good time by the losers, after a battle of five weeks. This is a class of young men, and every Sunday new members are being added. It is a good place to spend an hour and get real profit.

Mrs. S. W. Fenton and daughter have returned from Elsinore, where Mrs. Fenton has been passing several weeks taking treatment in the hope of benefiting her health, which has been much impaired. Mr. Fenton brought them home by auto.

Mrs. J. G. Peart of East Elk street entertained at luncheon last Friday, Mrs. J. Peart, Mrs. T. W. Peart and son, Thomas, of Regina, Saskatchewan; Mrs. M. A. Nichols of Los Angeles, Mrs. R. C. McCullough and Miss Jane Peart of Glendale. The table was beautifully with spring flowers and, following the luncheon, the ladies remained for an afternoon of visiting.

Miss Ethel Resor has come down from La Mars, Iowa, and accepted a position with the Glendale Branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. She is a cousin of Mrs. Gertrude Ballard of 501 East Wilson, with whom she is making her home.

Mrs. Sarah McLean, Mullen, Mrs. Alma Danford and Miss Laura Roberts of this city motored to Santa Ana last Saturday to attend the meeting of the Sixth District, California Library Association. Mrs. Mullen, who heads the English department in Lincoln high, read a fine paper entitled, "Why Read? How and What?"

REV. J. S. O'NEILL'S SERMON YESTERDAY

Yesterday was Passion Sunday, the beginning of the solemn season of the commemoration of the sufferings of Jesus Christ. The prayers and rites of the Catholic Church for the next two weeks are designed to fill her children with sorrow for the sufferings and death of our Savior, and with contrition for the many sins by which we have made ourselves sharers in the dread crime of those who tortured and killed the Lord.

Rev. Father J. S. O'Neill, in his Passion Sunday sermon, called to the mind of his hearers the hideousness of mortal sin by which man deliberately insults his Father. Mortal sin is a manifestation of the grossest ingratitude to the Giver of all good. It kills in the soul the sanctifying grace of God, breaking the bond that unites us to Him.

Father O'Neill pictured in eloquent, poetic words the resplendent beauty and perfect peace of the soul in harmony with God, the soul in the state of grace, and pointed out that those who had lost this priceless treasure of union with God need not despair. "If today we hear the voice of the Lord, let us not harden our hearts"; let us remember that contrition for our sins, confession of them and a firm purpose of amendment will win pardon for us and restore us to God's favor, even though our sins be as red as scarlet and as numerous as the sands of the sea. The time which will elapse between now and good Friday, is a time to bear continuously in mind the sufferings of Christ, the manifestation of the love which the Son of God had for all the sons of men. Behold, how He loved us, to exchange the glory of His Father's house for the shame and anguish of Calvary.
